Dear Sarai,

I wanted to congratulate you on your self-published book on being different. Diversity and being different should be celebrated and your book is a great example on promoting this great ideal.

I am further impressed in all that you have accomplished at your young age and how productive you are in these difficult times.

I look forward to your further writings and on your coloring book that is soon to come out.

Always at your service,
